In-store Intelligence

Connect & convert in real-time

FlooreSense | Mindtree
– Grocery

Welcome to possible
With fluctuating commodity prices, margins skating on thin ice and severe competition due to non-grocery players entering the bandwagon, food and grocery retail has become a tough business. Adding to the woes, grocers find it extremely challenging to keep the shopper attrition in check. Preventable instances such as unavailability of products in selling area and long wait time at the checkouts lead to lost sales. With the right analytics tool, grocers can combine multiple data sources and get information in real-time to solve business challenges and build competitive advantage.

Flooresense is a real time, in-store intelligence & analytics solution. It understands and translates shopper behavior into rich actionable insights to maximize conversion and revenue. Sales conversion in grocery retail is a function of multiple factors such as:

- Availability of the products on the shelf
- Right product mix
- Providing frictionless experience to the shoppers
- Promotional activities

Flooresense helps identify and eliminate friction points in shopper journey using real-time Business Intelligence. This in turn, leads to optimized store operations and enhanced in-store experience resulting in increased revenue.
